Has Been Conducted Successfully at Small Expense Eisewhere.

During the next three months the Hibernians of Jefferson county and the State will have before them an important proposition, which may result in the adoption of an insurance feature similar to that now prevailing in many States throughout the Union.

At the last meeting of the County Board of Directors the subject of levying a uniform assessment for the purpose of creating an insurance fund was dehated at length. The fact was brought out that the insurance laws adopted and now in force in many States have proven very beneficial in increasing the membership, while the cost was only nominal. Of course membership in the insurance hranch will not be compulsory, but it is thought that with the many advantages offered but few will refuse to enter the new movement. Already it seems to have met with the approval of such well known members as County President Keenan, Secretary William Meehan and President

The matter was brought up at the meeting of Division 4 last Wednesday night, preferring to wait until the plans and assessment rates have been more fully formulated, though their remarks indicate earnest support of any feasible plan.

The Irish-Americans of this city with commendable public spirit manifested their appreciation of the Elks' courtesy in setting apart a day for them at the carnival by turning out in such large numbers as to break the record for attendauce, which reached 25,000. On the other hand, the Elks were truly delighted, not only by the enormous attendance, but by the character of entertainment furnished by their Irish-American guests. SITUATION IN ENGLAND.

At last the British Parliament has been dissolved and an election ordered, only four weeks being allowed for nominations and canvass before the people. The Government has evaded a Parliamentary election for over two years, many matters of importance being deferred rather than risk their submission to Parliament, lest they result in disagreement necessitating a dissolution and election, thus the union label on public printing, be that which emanates from the United bringing these questions before the people. These questions have been withheld, dodged and pigeon-holed, and now, with only a short campaign, they are not likely to become general issues to harass the Government candidates and cause their defeat.

The Irish question will not be an issue outside of Ireland; the Australian government issue will be confined to Australia; the cotters' grievances may affect results in Scotland-but these sections of the empire would vote anti-government anyhow, and will remain a minorshortcomings in the Government ready and earnest advocate of the another address will be made.

The Government has carefully prepared for the contest before the people, which had to come, and with the advantage of organization, possession of power and information, in position to dictate the issue with the opposition allowed no time to meet it, there is every likelihood of a new Parliament in hearty accord with the Salisbury Government, regardless of its failures, what it has done or proposes to do.

The delegates from the tobacco workers' union presented a communication calling attention to the humiliating treatment of women and girls employed in the trust factories, who are compelled to suhmit to being searched hy men before leaving their work. The Central Labor Union was asked to condemn this action and request all union men not to purchase trust goods. The request was unanimously concurred in and the action of the union indorsed.

A communication was received from Samuel Gompers, President of the American Pederation of Labor, notifying the Central Labor Union that the annual convention would be held earlier this year than usual, and asking that no social features be prepared which will interfere with the sessions of the convention, which convenes December 5.

Representatives of the Wells-Whitehead Company, of Wilson, N. C., were present and asked the indorsement of the central body for the cigarettes made hy that firm, whose factory is union throughout. The indorsement was given.

The Labor Day Committee made its report, which was a most satisfactory one, showing that a handsome aum had heen realized. There are some unions yet having tickets. When these returns are in the final report will be made. The committees were accorded a rising vote of thanks for their excellent work.

The committee conducting negotiations for the settlement of the differences between the Theatrical Alliance and the Buckingham Theater reported the matter very near satisfactory settlement.

MUSICAL PRODIGY.

Very Remarkable Talent Developed by Little Catherine Hickey.

Little Miss Catherine Loretto Hickey, whose picture appears herewith, is the youngest music teacher in Louisville. She is the daughter of James Hickey, of Fourteenth and Main street, and is but twelve years old. She received her primary education in the school attached to the Church of the Holy Name, of which Rev. John O'Connor is popular pastor. When but six years old, alse developed great musical talent, which she has since used to the best advantage, though not neglecting her other studies. Today she has a class of a dozen or more scholars, to whom she gives piano lessons, besides attending the Thirteenth-street school. She is possessed of a pleasing countenance aud amiable disposition, and her friends predict for her a prominent position in the musical world.

SINGS IN OPERA.

Mary Anderson Appears For the Little Church She Attends.

The Mary Anderson of the old days, for the sake of sweet charity, has emerged from her retirement for a single evening, and all London is still in a flutter about it, aays a London dispatch. The character was one in which playgoers have never seen her. It was not drama; it was opera. The Mary Anderson of 'The Winter'a Tale," of "Romeo and Juliet," of "Twelfth Night," did not act, but sang for charity. But it was all very quiet and reserved, for now she is Mme. Antonio de Navarro, of Worcestershire, the Lady Bountiful of the county and longer the favorite of the footlights. It was her church in the old village Broadway that needed money. Mme. de Navarro and her husband have worshiped there every Sunday since they came to and to live. The ladies of the parish planned a concert in the Town Hall at Eveshau and they asked Muie. de Navarro to take part. "It is the only cause in the world for which 1 would appear again on the LAUREL LUMP. Hall was thronged last Saturday night for the concert. She sang divinely. THEATRICALS.

Good business marked the opening week at the Temple, showing that the efforts of Col. Meffert and Oscar Eagle are appreciated by the theater-going public. The Meffert-Eagle Stock Company has already won much praise for its excellent work and the management feels greatly encouraged. "The Bells of Haslemere," one of the leading successes of recent years, on both aides of the Atlantic, but never seen here, will be the offering for next week, beginning with Monday's matinee. The strong story of this play, ita opportuuities for realistic effecta and the individuality of the characters introduced combine to explain its great popul larity ever since its original production Invitations were issued yesterday for three or more years ago. The stage set-the select social and dance of the Sons of ting and costuming will be the same as Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

> is announced as next week's attraction at the Buckingham. Reports from Chicago indicate that this popular organization is this season better and bigger than ever before. The company is under new management, and the policy now is to offer only the very highest grade of amusement, composed of refined vaudeville and polite burlesque. The company numbera some thirty-two people, among whom are Mabel Hazelton and Peter Griffin, James and I'lora Simpson, M'lle Beatrice, Lew Reynolds and William Boyd, Julia Natus, Ben Mawott and son, Frank Purcell and Claire Maynard. There is also a large chorus of comely girls, who add color and hrilliancy to the performance.

> "The Night Before Christmas," a deightful pastoral play, comes to the Avenue next week. This play was first produced last year, and has enjoyed enormous patronage. An adequate equip ment in the way of acenic and electric effects has been provided, and a strictly high-grade production is promised.
